PET BEQUEST PROGRAM

Many friends of Helen Woodward Animal Center who choose to make charitable contributions by bequest to the Center also ask about the possibility of entrusting their pet(s) to the care of the Center after their death.

While the Center's first recommendation is to identify a trusted and willing friend or family member to care for your pet after your death, we recognize that this alternative is not always available. Therefore, the board and management of the Center have adopted the following guidelines to help pet owners as they prepare their wills and consider their charitable giving.

From the time Helen Woodward Animal Center first opened its doors in 1972, the Center's innovative pet placement program has served as a model for similar programs both locally and nationally. Mrs. Woodward, the Center's devoted founder, had a keen interest in the dynamic connection between humans and animals. She cared deeply about finding a way that pets who were unwanted or homeless could be united with loving new families. Helen Woodward Animal Center has always had, and continues to have, a "no-kill" philosophy which ensures that no healthy animal is ever euthanized.

The mission, policy and procedures of the Center's placement program reflect the belief that perpetual kenneling is not a suitable fate for an animal that has been living in a home. Pets are accepted by the Center with the understanding that every effort will be made to place the animal in a new home as quickly as possible. The Center's model adoption program is known for its commitment to do everything possible to match a pet's personality and physical requirements with an adoptive family's lifestyle, needs and space.

GUIDELINES

Because the Center is continually faced with an inexhaustible supply of orphaned animals needing new homes through its adoption program, owners wishing to surrender their pets generally must wait a few months before space is available. In recognition of donors who make charitable bequests or provide irrevocable trusts to the Center, we will waive the usual waiting period.

For the benefit of all pets taken into the pet placement program, it is important that charitable bequest donors who wish to leave their pets to the Center follow a few essential guidelines:

- 1. The Center's adoption program is limited to cats and dogs. Although birds, rabbits, horses, exotic animals, and a variety of other creatures are used in the Center's therapy and education programs, the adoption program is equipped to handle only cats and dogs.
- 2. Be sure that your pet is current on all of its required vaccinations and have veterinary records kept with your other important papers.
- 3. The Center provides physical examinations, vaccinations and neutering/spaying for its adoptable animals, but to keep costs down for both the Center and the adoptive family, you are urged to take care of these requirements before your pet comes to the Center.
- 4. For more expedient adoptions, animals should be in stable health with no chronic medical problems, and they should be of non-aggressive good temperament.

It is the Center's belief that dogs and cats belong in a loving home and not in a kennel. Therefore, all animals bequeathed to the Center will be put up for adoption. Rest assured, Helen Woodward Animal Center's Adoptions Program goes the extra distance to match a pet's temperament and requirements with an adoptive family's lifestyle. Animals who are taken from their own homes sometimes suffer from stress and anxiety. The staff and volunteers of the Center make every effort to alleviate these problems through personal attention, grooming, exercise and socialization techniques.

In every instance, the Center considers what is best for the animals. For this reason, the Center will care for animals as long as they are physically healthy or until they are adopted. However, if the animal(s) start to significantly deteriorate and can no longer be made comfortable with an acceptable quality of life, euthanasia must be considered. This happens very rarely at Helen Woodward Animal Center. Last year close to 4,000 animals were placed through the Center's adoption program which represents a 99% placement rate. The decision to put an animal to sleep at the Center rests solely with the staff of Helen Woodward Animal Center.

BEQUEST COMMITMENT

As a non-profit organization, Helen Woodward Animal Center must continually seek donations to fund its current humane and therapeutic programs. Costs to shelter, feed, groom, and provide medical care for the orphaned animals in our care are substantial. Therefore it is necessary that charitable bequest donors make the following financial provisions in order for the Center to accept their pets:

Dogs and cats under three years of age	$5,000 per animal
Dogs and cats three to six years old	$10,000 per animal
Dogs and cats over six years of age	$20,000 per animal

PROCEDURES

Helen Woodward Animal Center's adoption program is not one where animals are simply placed in the first available home. Every step is taken to ensure that each adoption is a permanent match. If you wish to bequeath your dog or cat to the Center, please take care to complete the following steps to ensure your pet's smooth and successful transition into a new situation.

- 1. Ask your attorney to state specifically in your will that you wish to entrust your pet to Helen Woodward Animal Center's adoption program.
- 2. Inform the executor of your estate, family members, and/or friends that you wish to have your pet cared for by the Center so that the transfer of your pet can be accomplished as soon as possible.
- 3. Complete the Pet Profile Form, available online or by calling (858) 756-4117 extension 347. Once completed please send along with a copy of your will to Helen Woodward Animal Center, P.O. The Pet Profile Form will provide the Center with important information about your pet's medical history, lifestyle, preferences, and behavioral characteristics that will help staff find the best possible match with a new family.
- 4. Ask your attorney to incorporate into your will the following suggested language for making a charitable contribution to the Center. Your gift may be unrestricted, or designated to the adoption program, or any other program that interests you.
