Report—

On the occasion of World Photography Day, Dev Samaj College of Education, in collaboration with Hellen Woodward Animal Center and Yuvsatta organized a unique Photography Contest dedicated to the theme of animals. The aim of the event was to encourage students to showcase their creativity, compassion, and perspective towards animals through the medium of photography.

Students were invited to share photographs of animals that they had collected, accompanied by a storytelling-style caption to enhance the emotional and narrative value of their entries. The contest witnessed an enthusiastic response, with 30+ entries submitted by participants, each reflecting a thoughtful blend of visual creativity and expressive narration.

The initiative not only celebrated the art of photography but also highlighted the bond between humans and animals, spreading awareness about care, empathy, and protection of the voiceless beings around us. The event was a true amalgamation of art, sensitivity, and advocacy, making Photography Day a memorable and meaningful occasion for all.
